INVESTING IN OUR COMMUNITY'S Future

The City of Shawnee continues to experience strong growth, and businesses and residents alike enjoy a quality of life that makes the area a desirable place to live and work. Successful public-private partnerships are making a difference to businesses and individuals across Shawnee.

Shawnee has experienced more than a quarter of a billion dollars in economic development during the past six years, and in 2018 added:

- 992 new jobs
- $148 million in announced projects

Shawnee's most recently constructed office building, Stag's Creek, has reached full occupancy with a diverse group of tenants: SpiraCare, Kiene Dental, Tevis Architects, Edward Jones, and DataFile Technologies. The building serves as a gateway into downtown Shawnee, sitting at Nieman Road and Shawnee Mission Parkway. The now-full development only helps to increase density in our downtown corridor.

Schier Products announced its relocation into a new manufacturing facility that it will construct in western Shawnee at Shawnee Mission Parkway and Woodland Drive by March 31, 2021. This 51,500-square-foot building will house 48 employees and will serve as the nationally distributed grease trap interceptor manufacturer's new headquarters.

Project Homeland continues to make major progress and will serve as a major economic hub for Shawnee. This 2-million-square-foot warehousing and logistics site will house distribution and light manufacturing and will add 1,500–2,000 jobs to Shawnee. Private developer Blue Shawnee LLC will begin construction in 2022.

Nieman Now nears its completion and has already sparked major development announcements due to the infrastructure and beautification improvements. McLain's Bakery opening in the OK Garage, the proposed Stag's Spring apartment complex, the Nieman Catalyst site, and two new breweries and a restaurant all on or near Nieman Road, show the positive impact this project has on our city.
